Annually Abandon Home, Friends and Business to Escape the Miseries of This Periodical Catarrh. Were you ever at the station of a hay-fever resort during the latter weeks of August? Oh, the panting, weeping, anuffling, sneesing, coughing, husky-voiced throng! Disgusted with themselves, compelled to drop every interest and take an expensive journey to get relief from a most exasperating and misory-engendering malady. A dejected, listless, diagrantled rowd. Just listen to their tal s of woe. Says one, between sneezes, "I don't see how my business can spare me, but with this I was worse than uncless there." Another walls: "I could have had a desirable school at a good salary but the form begins the first week of Septem-run away from a dangerously ill child I should have nursed, but, in my condition I was a disturbing element instead of a factor for comfort in the sick room." And like complaints; not one out for fun, not one happy in the enforced exile; just prisoners to locality, waiting for news of a frust. If these people early in the season had purchased Stuart's Catarrh Tablets, which are for sale by all druggists at 50 cents a box, and taken them faithfully so as to get their systems thoroughly under their influence, they would have been rendered immune to the excitants of autumnal catarrh, the plant dust that has no unpleasant effect on constitutionally perfect people. They could have attended to their duties or their pleasures and been spared an expensive journey

A little folder and booklet on the cause and cure of hay-fever and catarrh, mailed free to all who apply. Address F. A. Stuart Co., Marshall, Mich.
